STUDENTS INVITED TO PREVIEW POLYTECH PROGRAMS

An Open House is planned for Thursday, December 15th at Hunterdon County Polytech for students and parents interested in high school and adult career and technical education. The Open House will be held at both campuses from 6:30 – 8:30 pm: 8 Bartles Corner Road and 10 Junction Road in Flemington.

The county's career and technical school will showcase the 12 areas of hands-on, career-based study. Administration, Teachers, Guidance, Social workers and Adult Education Instructors will discuss scheduling, career options, program details and provide tours of the campus facilities.

“For those unfamiliar with our school, this event is a great first introduction to our unique learning environment” cites Principal Dan Kerr. “Students choose to come to Polytech and work with their guidance counselors to register for a year-long program. Most attend as juniors and are bussed from their home high school for ½ day of their school day. Programs provide 20 high school credits with Education, Nursing, Dental and Health Sciences also extending concurrent college credits. It is our goal to make sure all our students are properly prepared when leaving high school whether they plan to enter a 2 or 4 year college path or go directly into the workforce. This includes skills, licensing, certifications, credentials and college credits.”

Course areas will include automotive, building technologies, health sciences/nursing/dental, cosmetology, culinary, education, law enforcement, pre-veterinary, career exploration and visual communications/art and design. Information and directions can be found at the school website: www.hcpolytech.org or by calling 908-806-3855 EXT. 2008.
